2. Home Page Left Slider

3. Home Page Our Partners

Steven Oquendo

The Latin Side of Hot House By Raul de Gama

Steven Oquendo Latin Jazz Orchestra: Salsa Picante

Steven Oquendo is unapologetic about calling his regular weekly gig at Mamajuana Café in The Bronx Salsa Tuesdays. "I know that my heroes — Tito Puente, Tito Rodriguez and Ray Santos — preferred the term Afro-Cuban or Afro-Caribbean to describe our music," he says in a whisper-soft, melodic voice. Then, with a staccato laugh, he adds, "Think about it as pouring hot sauce on top of the beautiful music." Steven knows all too well how to make that happen. He worked it all out, and his 19-piece Latin Jazz Orchestra (LJO) has been playing Salsa Tuesdays at the fabled club in The Bronx every week for a decade. Best of all, they have been performing for free.

With seductive magic, Steven and the LJO draw Latin music lovers of all ages and stripes onto dance floors. He reveals his secret happily. "We curate our repertoire in a special way," he says. "What we want to do is to keep the spicy magic of the historic Palladium Ballroom alive forever," he avers, referring to the iconic ballroom, a fixture in the Big Apple and especially riveting from 1948 onwards when the legendary bands of Tito Puente, Tito Rodriguez and Machito held sway there before mambo, sadly, went out of fashion.

"Well," Steven says, "The LJO is bringing that age-old and hot salsa craze back to life." He continues with pride. "We are the only big band playing those same arrangements that once drove listeners and dancers crazy, exactly as in the heyday of Tito and Tito. Folks who have forgotten had better come on over to Dizzy's Club this month," he beckons with a laugh.

TYLER BLANTON

THE SIDE DOOR / APRIL 8; SAINT PETER'S CHURCH / APRIL 23

Vibraphonist Tyler Blanton has given his chosen instrument a fresh and vibrant sound. Taking the mantle from luminaries such as Gary Burton and Bobby Hutcherson, Tyler is charting a course all his own by pushing the ball forward on what the vibraphone is able to do. Tyler's debut as a leader was 2010's Botanic, with saxophonist Joel Frahm, bassists Dan Loomis and Aidan Carroll, and drummers Richie Barshay and Jared Schonig.

Tyler's latest album is 2019's Sense of Place (Destiny Records), where he is joined by bassist Drew Gress, pianist Jon Cowherd, and drummer Johnathan Blake. These appearances, and at The Django on April 6, are his release celebration — delayed due to COVID-19 — and feature pianist Gary Versace, bassist Jay Anderson, and drummer Ferenc Nemeth. EW
